Parents write appreciation at close of challenging school year

After a year of online schooling of their children, SISC parents sent complimentary messages regarding the school's Virtual Online Learning and Teaching (VOLT) Program and the teachers' caring and helpful approach which went over and above their expectations. They expressed their gratitude for SISC's effort, dedication and fortitude in helping students navigate a rough pandemic year to reach their learning goals.

Below are excerpts of emails received from parents that show the special bond between the school, the students and their families during this unprecedented time:

"School year 2020-2021 went past with the speed of the development of the COVID-19 vaccine! While our attention was on the lockdowns, the numbers of infection, and now the resbakuna programs, the school operated inconspicuously - unnoticed, invisible, but churning like a well-oiled perpetual engine!

We succeeded because of the triumvirate effort, interaction and cooperation between the school, the students and their parent(s). I would like to congratulate the amazing stewardship of the school during virtual learning and also the commendable performance of the teachers, advisers and sponsors. Their desire, determination, dedication, discipline and, most importantly, their patience, were key factors in this achievement."

- Parent of Grade School student

"Last April, my two children and I, along with other members of our household, tested positive for COVID-19. It was a terrible time for us, compounded by the fact that I had to be hospitalized twice. My husband who, thankfully, tested negative was in the hospital constantly to see to my needs. Being away from our children, especially in the last leg of the third term when final exams were happening and requirements were due, was really hard.

The Southville teachers really helped our kids during this time, stepping in as second parents so they can do well in their exams, finish their requirements and, generally, just checking on them to see how they were doing. While worry and fear was a constant companion during that time, we were comforted by the knowledge that there were kind people looking after our kids."
