INSTITUTIONAL SURVEY LEADS TO IMPROVEMENT

SISC is a firm believer that educating a child is a collaborative effort between the home and the school. Just like you, SISC wants what is best for your child in terms of growing in knowledge and in values. We value parents' comments and suggestions that improve the learning experiences of a child.

It is in view of our shared goal that SISC is conducting the Institutional Survey for parents and students. Please answer the Institutional Survey Form for Parents and Students linked to this bulletin so the school will know how it is doing and what more it can do to help your children achieve their potentials and become movers of society. Together, we can make a difference.

SKIN RASH

What is a skin rash?

Skin rashes are abnormal areas on the skin that may appear as discolored bumps or flat spots. They occur when the skin becomes red, inflamed and bumpy.

Rashes occasionally affect people all over the world. Some rashes require no treatment since they quickly go away on their own, while others can be treated at home. Some rashes can be concerning because they may be symptoms of a more serious condition

Rashes may include a wide range of forms and textures, including those that are dry, moist, smooth, cracked, painful, itchy, non- itchy, and blistering. It may be infectious or non-infectious.

Types of skin rashes

Contact dermatitis

This itchy rash is caused by a direct contact with a substance or an allergic reaction to it.

Eczema

Also called as atopic dermatitis, it often develops in infancy and frequently gets better as a child matures. Genetically, it typically runs in families and is more common in people with asthma or allergies.

Hives

Also known as urticaria, they result in raised, red, itchy welts on the skin. If you experience an allergic reaction to airborne allergens or insect bites, you could develop hives. Hives may also be triggered by severe temperature fluctuations and specific bacterial diseases.

Psoriasis

This chronic skin condition results in a thick, scaly rash. The elbows, knees, lower back, scalp, and genitalia are common areas where the rash appears.

Viral

Viral illnesses, such as chickenpox, measles and molluscum contagiosum, frequently exhibit skin rashes as a symptom.
